THE FOX PLOT

WHERE THE VEGETABLES GROW

The FoxPlot started as a good sized backyard garden in LaFox, IL in 2011. Since then, we (Sarah and Nate Elliott) have expanded a big garden into an enormous one, verging on small farm located on 2 3/4 acres in Campton Hills. We grow a number of vegetables in multiple varieties for our family and yours. Our goal is to produce a diversity of local vegetables to eat and preserve. Join us all season long for our 20 week CSA (community supported agriculture) program.

Foxplot Full season CSA 2015

What's a CSA? Community supported agriculture is a way to supply your family with fresh and local foods while supporting and joining with a farmer for the ups and downs of a growing season. CSA members will enjoy a weekly box of produce, about 3/4 of a bushel of 5-12 different vegetables each week. We expect the box to keep a family of four in plentiful vegetables servings for one week. While we are not certified organic, we use organic growing practices, focusing on soil health and fertility. We also keep several hives of bees and will include 1-2 jars of honey during honey harvest.

The details:

Choose between one box each week or one every other week, to be picked up at the FoxPlot or Tuesdays at Fresh Ground in downtown Geneva. Shareholders may pick up their boxes starting the week of June 16 continuing through October 27.
